

Don't Let The Sun Steal You Away

Bear's Den

Well the birds start their screaming
Cause you let go of my hand
And old words lose all meaning
As morning descends
Fickle night you are a liar
Well you made a fool out of me
Mistook my love for desire
You set my demons free

Don't let the sun steal you away
Don't let your mind speak louder than your hard
Don't let the sun steal you away
Don't let your mind speak louder than your heart

Don't let the sun steal you away
Don't let your mind speak louder than your hard
Don't let the sun steal you away
Don't let your mind speak louder than your heart

Well I know, that you're scared
I know, cause I am too
Scared of hurting someone
The way I've been hurt by you
And I don't want to touch you in the night
If I cannot hold you in the day
But as the sun slowly rises
Your love for me decays

Don't let the sun steal you away
Don't let your mind speak louder than your hard
Don't let the sun steal you away
Don't let your mind speak louder than your heart

Just let your mind come around,
Just let your mind come around to your heart