

Trying hard to remember your touch
These hazy reels are just not enough
You're on my mind damn-near all the time
I miss your voice and the way that you'd speak
My hands stretched out, but you just couldn't see
I needed you there, needed you beside me

I'd scale all mountains to possess your heart
I apologize, I know I played my part
My hands in a bind, I'm running out of time

Hold me now, as the tides begin to raise
Hold me now, close to losing all my faith
Take my fears and suffering
You know this pain comes in waves
I need you here
'Cause without you, I don't feel so brave

Maybe I'm the one who's been blind
Let pettiness become my soul's repine
We'd scream and fight damn-near every night
I took for granted the language you loved
My pulse was faint, it couldn't give you much
My body was there, wish I had spoken up

I'm doing better, I don't get so drunk
Those words were mine, I know that I fucked up
I'll admit you're right, just meet me here tonight

Hold me now, as the tides begin to raise
Hold me now, close to losing all my faith
Take my fears and suffering
You know this pain comes in waves
I need you here
'Cause without you, I don't feel so brave

Hold me now, as the tides begin to raise
Hold me now, close to losing all my faith
Take my fears and suffering
You know this pain comes in waves
I need you here
'Cause without you, I don't feel so brave
