My grief is deep, my days are dim Give me a knock on my door Say that you will be mine And stay with me forever As nothing can refresh my soul I would have been happy to know Cause I felt so safe when I looked into your eyes I was mistaken but now I'm sure I love you still But silently inside I know my feelings won't change your mind So what am I gonna do I gave away everything to you I suffer from painful blows Will it last forever It's allright, I won't cry Tears won't help me find the reason Why you suddenly disappeared out of my sight I was mistaken, but now I'm sure I love you still But silently inside I know my feelings won't change your mind