Future Mind

Believer

Living proof of what can be Escaping from life's tragedy Learning through another's mind To catch a glimpse beyond the skies

Mental rush of abstract pain Never asking what's to gain Never lost in splintered eyes Focused on what inward lies

Return to me, I'll return to you I will not change, to justify you

Living proof of what must be Broken from the misery Never lost in present time Always seeking future mind

Return to me, I'll return to you I will not change, to justify you