

I Wish I Had You

Bellamy Brothers

I wish I had you, with me this evening
Here by the fire, where embers blow
I will protect you, and I would love you
More than a man, has loved before

But when your away, the sun starts crying
The rain falls down, from a cloudless sky
I need your passion, to stir my spirit
I need your relish, here in my eyes

I wish I had you, there in the meadow
That field of green, where you took my breath
We laid together, and talked loving
And joined our souls, beyond our days

But when your away, the sun starts crying
The rain falls down, from a cloudless sky
I need your passion, to stir my spirit
I need your relish, here in my eyes

I wish I had you, with me tonight
