

Lullabye

Ben Folds Five

Goodnight, goodnight sweet baby
the world has more for you
than it seems goodnight, goodnight
let the moonlight take the lid off your dreams

we took a small flight in the middle of the night from one tiny place to another and my parents they remained at the shack with lorraine and my aunt and my grandpa and brother we walked past the tarmac and boarded the craft the rain had me chilled to the bones just the three of us took flight that night, uncle richard, me and james earl jones and the pilot he gave me a blanket while the tall dark man sang to me in deep rich tones...
