You so easily amuse like a pantomime such a silent crime

You so easily abuse lack of confidence it's your best offense

You so easily confuse you can't deny it still you try to hide it

Faded
so faded
like a memory gone
there's no recollection Faded
so faded
like a forgotten dream
further than it seems

You so hastily defy when you think you need it you find a way to bleed it

You so hastily deny pleading innocence it's your best defense

You so hastily reply the moment that you said it already regret it

Faded
so faded
like a memory gone
there's no recollection
Faded
so faded
like a forgotten dream
further than it seems