

Come Down On Your Side

Bernard Fanning

I find it hard to say it loud
You find it easy
The words get stuck there in my mouth
Trying to play it straight on shifting ground
You won't believe me
When I say I'll stay around
If you're punishing yourself for feeling lonely
Suffering or bleeding yourself dry

Let the light shine bright through your window tonight
To cast out the shadows and the darkness from your life
No matter if your latitude the sky is on your side
I will always come down on your side

The secrets spilling from my mouth said to ease your worry and doubt
And you break away the sadness in your eyes
When you run it down, you run it through
Cover each and every clue
Gathered up your feathers now to fly
Lock yourself away in solitary
Not so much you're lonely but alone

Let the light shine bright through your window tonight
To cast out the shadows and the darkness from your life
No matter if your latitude the sky is on your side
I will always come down on your side

The song of redemption
The song to rejoice
The realization of a dream once tonight
Song of redemption
Song to rejoice
To lead your from the dark into the light

Let the light shine bright through your window tonight
To cast out the shadows and the darkness from your life
No matter if you're beaten down or swollen up with pride
I will always come down on your side

Oh we can cast out the shadows
I will always come down on your side
