Beth Hart

She got a poet's spirit
She burns among the clouds
She never stops believing
She only dreams out loud

There's a jackpot in the dresser
She's smiling in the glass
And if you need to kiss her
Don't forget your stash

'Cause she gives it away
And you're fascinated by her
And she does it again
With simple and brilliant desire
And she gives it away
And you're fascinated by

By her

She wears a million colors
There's rainbows on her soles
She got a sign above her
That says I'm never growing old
You're asking her to dance
Now she spins a solid white light
She gonna make love to you today
Today and every night

'Cause she gives it away
And you're fascinated by her
And she does it again
With simple and brilliant desire
And she gives it away
And you're fascinated by

By her

She may be waiting
Around the corner of your mind
But still you know
She's there you can feel her inside
So don't forget about the reasons
That brought you her
'Cause she's a miracle

'Cause she gives it away
And you're fascinated by her
And she does it again
With simple and brilliant desire
And she gives it away
And you're fascinated by
By her
