

Everything Must Change

Beth Hart

Everything has changed
The sky don't shine or rain
Stars don't walk me home
So I go this road alone

But everything will turn
When the heroes feel the burn
And the outlaw speaks the truth
I was braver in my youth
No I'm not the same
But everything must change

Everyone is gone
The dogs don't get along
Cracks run thru the wood
Can't live here no one could
But everyone will come
With dreams and things they've won
Little women start to dance
Broken men get a second chance
No one is the same
But everything must change

I just want to go I just want to go
Go outside and run
I just want to be I just wanna see
Before it's all said and done
I can't wait no longer, longer, longer

Where is all the love
Round here we all look up
And the love runs ore the edge
I just need a friend
Then everywhere there's light
When the dying start to fight
And the ashes blow away
It's the most beautiful day
When it's time to say goodbye
Sweet mother don't you cry
There will be no more pain
Cause everything must change
