

Thankful

Beth Hart

I see blue birds of paradise
I see sunset to sunrise
I watch comets in the sky
I see magic flying by
I feel my father holding me
I feel my spirit learn to breathe
I look into my mother's eyes
I know this must be paradise

And I say oh my, oh my
This is paradise
I say oh my, oh my

Thank you for the sunshine
Thank you for the light
Thank you for the moonshine
Thank you for the night
Thank you for the big climb
Thank you for the fall
Thank you for my life
Thank you for it all

I run through fields of majesty
I run in and out of reality
I run back to my enemy
I run deep down inside of me
I hear whispering in the trees
I hear their towering melodies
They share their ancient memories
They sing we're all family

And I sing oh my, oh my
This is paradise
I sing oh my, oh my

Thank you for the sunshine
Thank you for the light
Thank you for the moonshine
Thank you for the night
Thank you for the big climb
Thank you for the fall
Thank you for my life
Thank you for it all

It's a beautiful life in the little things
So I stand in the light and I see everything
My my, oh my

Thank you for the sunshine
Thank you for the light
Thank you for the moonshine
Thank you for the night
Thank you for the big climb
Thank you for the fall
Thank you for my life

Thank you for the laughter

Thank you for the chance
Thank you for the madness
Thank you for the dance
Thank you for forgiveness
And not softening the fall
Thank you for my love
Thank you for it all
Thank you for my life
I'm thankful for it all
All, all
Thankful for it all
