

War

Beware of Darkness

You bring your Gods, I'll bring mine
And we'll end the problem right now
Whose religion is a waste of time
No more holy wars ending life
In the name of every God above
Let's draw some blood tonight

Let's have a war (War)
Let's have a war (War)
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for
Let's have a war (War)
Let's have a war (War)
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for

You say your prayers, I'll say mine
Only focus on our differences
And not how we're alike
Purgatory, purgatory somewhere we got so lost
No more killing in the name of God
And using faith as a bomb

Let's have a war (War)
Let's have a war (War)
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for
Let's have a war (War)
Let's have a war (War)
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for War...

In the name of the father, the son, and the holy ghost
May God kill all the people that I hate the most

God can create, but we can destroy
God can create, but we can destroy
God can create, but we can destroy
God can create, but we can destroy

Let's have a war (War)
Let's have a war (War)
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for
Let's have a war (War)
Let's have a war (War)
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for

Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for
Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for

Dear listener, please, note that this song is satire
It uses hyperbole to make a point about how ridiculous
It can be when people get violent over religion and think that one religion is better than the other
Because we are all one, and leading with love, peace, and unity is the way to be
So remember, it's just a song
Thank you for listening, and enjoy your life now
