

All Is Fair

Big Wreck

Settling into another day
Of bickering and complaints
We both know I'm not perfect
But neither of us are saints

And by the way
Where were you last night when I called?

Well it always turns out simple
An innocence in love
And before you know it's back and forth
Calling each other's bluff

And by the way
Where were you last night when I called?
(voice of reason)

All is fair in love and war
But you can't compare the two anymore
We got a little home
It's best to bet
We both know there's
No one else to blame

Oh I've seen it all around me
As it happens every day
Lawyers, courts and settlements

I've gotta say
I wouldn't change this for the world
(voice of reason)

So we're
Trying to raise a tiny tribe
Something of our own
We're sacrificing everything
I get no more time alone

I've gotta say
I wouldn't change this for the world
(voice of reason)

All is fair in love and war
But you can't compare
The two anymore
We got a little home
It's best to bet
We both know there's
No one else
(voice of reason)
We both know there's
No one else
(voice of reason)

All is fair in love and war
But you can't compare
The two anymore

We're driving one another
Up the wall
We both know there's no one else
My baby, it's just you and me

All is fair in love and war
But you can't compare
The two anymore
We got a little home
It's best to bet
We both know there's
No one else
We both know there's
No one else
We both know there's
No one else
