

Time Flies

Billy Ray Cyrus

It's living in the moment today
Got down on the floor and played with my little girl
For a little while
It's crazy how much she's grown

It seems last I looked, she was so small but she sure ain't now
But she's around that age her first memories are made
Oh, I remember being that young once
I think it was yesterday

Time flies
Blows by
Feels like I've missed so many things

Time flies
And sometimes
God, I wish You'd clip its wings

Another day is winding down
There you stand in that cotton gown
The one you wore when we first made love
Back when this was just a dream, no house, no kids

The only thing we had then was us
And babe, I can't help but miss that now and then
'Cause all those old tomorrows
Ain't coming back again

Time flies
Blows by
Feels like I've missed so many things

Time flies
And sometimes
God, I wish You'd clip its wings

Time flies
God I, God, I wish You'd clip its wings
God, why can't you clip its wings?

Time flies
Time flies
