

Child In A Seacave

Bitter Ruin

Crazy banter, mental health
Grey matter against myself
Constantly unwanted skin
Unfortunately holds it in

I loved you and you fucking let me down
You've given me a bush to beat around

And I
Could have died

I have never been a battle ship
I've just been carrying cargo
So maybe that's why I feel
So sunken

You should have saved me
You should have saved me
Left like a lightbulb
Off, no switch, in a dark room
You should have saved me
You should have saved me
A child in a sea cave
Watching a tidal wave

And what's the point when I drink to drown?
And where's the light when the power's down?

I loved you and you fucking let me down
You've given me a bush to beat around

And I
Could have died

You stood and watched 'em make me walk the plank
Knowing I was tied to a cannonball
So maybe that's why I'm going
Overboard

You should have saved me
You should have saved me
Left like a lightbulb
Off, no switch, in a dark room
You should have saved me
You should have saved me
A child in a sea cave
Watching a tidal wave

Cold, cold, cold change
Cold, cold, cold change
Cold, cold, cold change

Ah
Ah

You should have saved me
You should have saved me

Left like a lightbulb
Off, no switch, in a dark room
You should have saved me
You should have saved me
A child in a sea cave
Watching a tidal wave