

She Dances With Her Shadow

BlackHawk

She relives the memories
Of looking down that long road
Wishing he would stay
As he turned and waved goodbye
Lately she's been missing
All the nights he held her
The music slowly takes her heart
To another place and time

And she dances with her shadow
Staring out the windows
A silver moon silhouette
Shines in her eyes
In her heart she knows that
He will never come back
She dances with her shadow
Alone again tonight

He was fast and reckless
No way she could hold him
Loved her like no other
Ever had done before
Some nights you can find her
Going through the motions
Shattered dreams and photographs
All scattered on the floor

And she dances with her shadow
Staring out the windows
A silver moon silhouette
Shines in her eyes
In her heart she knows that
He will never come back
She dances with her shadow
Alone again tonight
