

Dear & Departed

Blitz Kids

Now I see what I am, never got to witness it first hand,
I'm an animal, feeding on your heart, every pretty part.

Singing songs of all the loves I've lost, my surface isn't breached,
Not a thought for all my dear and my departed.
It's devil red, the skin I wear but soldier green beneath,
But I don't need them, no I don't need them.

Now I see what you are, I never got to witness it from afar,
You're an animal, feeding on my heart, every empty part.

Singing songs of all the loves I've lost, my surface isn't breached,
Not a thought for all my dear and my departed.
It's devil red, the skin I wear but soldier green beneath,
But I don't need them, no I don't need them.

There's no such thing as a fairy tale,
There's no such thing as a fairy tale.
There's no such thing as a fairy tale.

Don't believe what you're told,
These pages bend and fold.
Not all that glitters is gold,
Inside this sinner's soul.

Don't believe what you're told.

There's no such thing as a fairy tale,
There's no such thing as a fairy tale.
There's no such thing as a fairy tale,
There's no such thing, there's no such thing.

Singing songs of all the loves I've lost, my surface isn't breached,
Not a thought for all my dear and my departed.
It's devil red, the skin I wear but soldier green beneath,
But I don't need them, no I don't need them.

There's no such thing as a fairy tale,
There's no such thing as a fairy tale.
There's no such thing as a fairy tale,
There's no such thing as a fairy tale.
