Where Your Mind Wants to Go

Blonde Redhead

If you had an hour Would you find the flower? Or a fruit that's sour? If you had an hour

Time is what you needed

If I wake you, you might feel too light

Love is what you seeded

That's where your mind wants to go

Seeded to be weeded By your quiet father Or your doting mother

Everywhere you look for me Clouded fields of misted stills Everything falls in between Are you not a dreamer? Are you not a dreamer?

If you had the power
If I had the power
I would give you an hour

If it's not me or you, then why?

If it's not me or you, then why?