

Red River

Blood Red Shoes

Take me back home, take me back home.
Take me back home, take me back home.

Driving thoughts you knew they're good to us
We're taking boots alone that go to the place we know.

The river's a threatening ride
You said there's nothing to it
You brought on this lost argument
We're both to blame, we're both to blame

Take me back home, take me back home.
Take me back home, take me back home.
Take me back home, take me back home.

Moving past the high Christmas
We're making our way back home
No sound of the tired, ain't told.

The river's a threatening ride
You said there's nothing to it
You brought on this lost argument
We're both to blame, we're both to blame

Give it up, give it up, put it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again
Give it up, give it up, give it up again