

Standby Button

Blowsight

I used to picture you naked on the floor
But I just can't do that anymore
And I used to love the things we did
If God's a witness, God forbid
But I just can't do that anymore

So what the hell is going on?
Take me back where I belong
I've been pushing my standby button everyday
Tell me what I'm doing wrong
Take me back where I belong
I've been pushing my standby button everyday
And I push it just to push you away

And I was afraid to be, who I really am
Well now I just don't give a damn
I used to look into your eyes
Trough the laughters, trough the cries, yeah
But I don't care, no, not anymore

So what the hell is going on?
Take me back where I belong
I've been pushing my standby button everyday
Tell me what I'm doing wrong
Take me back where I belong
I've been pushing my standby button everyday
And I push it just to push you away

Just to push you away now

Breathe on breathe on
You'll be just fine when someone better comes along
Breathe on Breathe on
You'll be just fine when someone better comes along, yeah

(Someone better come along)

So what the hell is going on?
Take me back where I belong
I've been pushing my standby button everyday
Tell me what I'm doing wrong
Take me back where I belong
I've been pushing my standby button everyday
And I push it just to push you away

Just to push you away now
Push Push away
