

Telescope

Bo Bruce

Strike a pose in the foot of spotlight that you chose
Down the river, the roses and a pot of gold
Everybody they love you but what do they now
We just see what we want

Pictures lie
We both know so
Go on, smile for the world
Take the light that you stole
Don't know you anymore

Maybe if I had a telescope
Then I could see what my heart want
Maybe if (maybe if)
I had (I had)
A telescope (a telescope)

Cos these naked eyes
These naked eyes
Have gone blind

And I thought I had smoked all of you out
But your walls and mirrors hit for more than I found
I'm ashamed to still want you cos who are you now
Don't know you anymore

Scriptures lie
We both know and
From where I have been hanging I can't see a thing
From the gallows I sing

Maybe if I had a telescope
Then I could see what my heart want
Maybe if (maybe if)
I had (I had)
A telescope (a telescope)

Cos these naked eyes
These naked eyes
Have gone blind

Maybe if I had a telescope
Then I could see what my heart want
Maybe if (maybe if)
I had (I had)
A telescope (A telescope)

Cos these naked eyes
These naked eyes
Have gone blind
