

Destiny

Bobby Caldwell

Tell me why you're acting like you don't care
As if I'm not fair, as if I'm someone
Under your thumb, just hanging around
When you know there's a place in your heart for me
That a blind man could see
How then can you avoid destiny? Yeah

Destiny

You pretend to be way beyond my reach
But once you set the laws in motion
Something that no one can breach, destiny
You can stand me up, you can turn me down
But I know I got your head around it
And one day you will see, destiny

Don't be hard, I know when you're being cold
It's for people to see playing the game
You might fool them, you can't fool me
You've been wasting what it's ours
With the games that you play
You don't wanna let the chance slip away, destiny

Destiny

You pretend to be way beyond my reach
But once you set the laws in motion
Something that no one can breach, destiny
You can stand me up, you can turn me down
But I know I got your head around it
And one day you will see, destiny

It's the strangest thing
Just for gravity aligning up
The planets just for you and me
Oh it must be destiny

You pretend to be way beyond my reach
But once you set the laws in motion
Something that no one can breach, destiny
You can stand me up, you can turn me down
But I know I got your head around it
And one day you will see, destiny
