

Rain

Bobby Caldwell

Rain, here it comes again
Why's it only when my heart is grieving
That the clouds open up and then
Here comes the rain

Why did she go away
Now the skies are gray
And nothing matters
What I'd give for a sunny day

Why must it rain, rain
Please go away
My tears won't dry
Tell me why must it rain
Why must it rain, rain
No not today
Maybe some other time
Right now I don't need the rain
Can't you please stop falling

Rain, everywhere I go
Every time I'm low
It seems to follow
I don't care if nothing ever grows

Why must it rain, rain
Please go away
My tears won't dry
Tell me why must it rain
Why must it rain, rain
Oh, no not today
Maybe some other time
Right now I don't need the rain

Why must it rain, rain
Please go away
My tears won't dry
Tell me why must it rain
Why must it rain, rain
Oh, no not today
Maybe some other time
Right now I don't need the rain

Not one more raindrop, baby
I wanna dry my eyes
Oh my eyes
Gotta stop the rain from falling
Oh no
Ooh, yeah
Somebody stop the rain
I don't need another cloudy day
I wanna have some sunshine, baby
Oh yeah
Rain
Keeps on falling on me
No more rain

Ooh, yeah
