

Now You're Gone

Bobby Darin

I woke up this mornin' feelin'
Just as though my head were reelin'
Reelin' from a dream I had last night

Then I turned and faced your pillow
Wept just like the weepin' willow
Seems like the dream I had was right

You were gone...
And the love I was givin' is...
And the reason for livin' is...
But the memory of your love lives on

Til the day that heaven calls me
No arms'll ever hold me
My love and happiness are gone

I sit here just thinkin' 'bout you
Wonderin' how I'll live without you
Tryin' to figure out what I did wrong

But I guess it doesn't matter
If you found-a someone better
I'll be here when that someone is gone

Yes, you're gone...
And the love I was givin' is...
And the reason for livin' is...
But the memory of your love lives on

Til the day that heaven calls me
No arms'll ever hold me
My love and happiness are gone

Til the day that heaven calls me
No arms'll ever hold me
My love and happiness are gone

My love and happiness are gone...
My love and happiness are gone...
