Strange rain fallin' around us All day, every day Strange rain fallin' around us And what will become of my baby?

Baby, my baby
Much too little to run
Baby, my baby
What will become of my son?

Measurin' death for a suit, Lord All day, Every day They're measurin' death for a suit, Lord And what will become of my baby?

Baby, my baby
Much too little to run
Baby, my baby
And what will become of my son?

My kid don't eat what I feed him All day, every day My kid won't eat what I feed him And what will become of my baby?

Baby, my baby
Much too little to run
Baby, my baby
And what will become of my son?

Strange rain fallin' around us
All day, every day
There's strange rain fallin' around us
And what will become of my son?
