

Warren's Song, Pt. 19

Bracket

I still hope that you can find
The happiness that once was mine
A worthless heart misses you once again

I believe that you will find
A radiance that is not mine
A pining heart misses you once again

The shimmer of our days
Slowly fading away
Inside I'm only half alive

Out of all my distractions
You still manage to be my favorite one

Trading your absence for mine
The unbelievers are unkind
The meaningless becomes available

I'm trying to get closer to the buzz that is
surrounding you
Everyone says it's so beautiful

I still hope that you can find
The happiness that once was mine
A worthless heart misses you once again

The shimmer of our days
Slowly fading away
Inside I'm only half alive

Out of all my distractions
You still manage to be my favorite one

Trading your absence for mine
The unbelievers are unkind
The meaningless becomes available

I'm trying to get closer to the buzz that is
surrounding you
Everyone says it's so beautiful

Trading your absence for mine
The unbelievers are unkind
The meaningless becomes available

I'm trying to get closer to the buzz that is
surrounding you
Everyone says it's so beautiful
So beautiful
So beautiful
So beautiful