

Warren's Song, Pt. 25

Bracket

I need your condescending love
It seems to keep me in my place
But your arrogance is bliss and your bitterness is grace

Keep me in your afterthoughts
It's not who you are
It's who I'm not
I want to be your nobody

I couldn't wish for any more
Than the life you've forced on me
And without all the pain inside
Think how empty I would be
Keep me in your afterthoughts
It's not who you are
It's who I'm not
I want to be your nobody