

Love Ain't The Question

Brenda Lee

There's no doubt about it, love ain't the question,
And love ain't the answer to what's coming down
With more than love to hold most folks together,
With lost love and average folks have ever found

We can't kiss and make up, make love and take up
Somewhere where we left off, somewhere we've been Cause love ain't the question, and love ain't the answer
From the beginning it was testing to end

Though, love ain't the question, and love ain't the answer
For two head strong people, too set in our way
We can't save the past and we can't stay together.
A couple of misfits that love cannot save

We got love for giving and got love for taking,
But there's no forgiving there's no living here.
So love ain't the question and love ain't the answer
From the beginning it was destine to end
Love ain't the question, And love ain't the answer
