The Good In You

Brendan James

If I look beyond the years
To this glass that scratched clear
To these clouds we both fought through
I see the good in you

If I search the holes of my mind
Find no rooms from the early times
To the traps we fell into
I see the good in you

I remember, I remember, I remember
The way that we spent the time of our young life
And I remember, I remember, I remember
The days that we laughed, the days that we both cried

I can't forget all the heights who carried us too
No matter who's been chasing after the truth
I see the good in you, I see the good in you

If I'd wait for the morning light
Would it help me forgive the night
For the dark it cast on us
Cause I've had enough

I remember, I remember, I remember
The way that we spent the time of our young life
And I remember, I remember, I remember
The days that we laughed, the days that we both cried

I can't forget all the heights who carried us too
No matter who has been chasing after the truth
I see the good in you, the good in you

I could reel the thing fade into nothing
Where does the love run off and hide
It's enough that we won't
It changes the hunger