The Hennepin Avenue Bridge

Brian Setzer

Father Hennepin went down to Benningan's
To discuss the construction of the Hennepin Bridge
He had time to kill down by the flour mill
So he planned a picnic lunch on St. Anthony Main

Now Father Hennepin he was notorious

And he liked a little drink down al Nye's Polonaise

His explorations were more than glorious

So they planned to build a bridge that would feature his name

Well first Niagara and then St. Anthony's Were discovered by the fella with the Hennepin name But when the lock was filled on the lower falls Everyone was shopping on the Nicollet Mall

And when the rope was cut on the Hennepin Father Louis had a most unusual plan He would take a dip in the Mississippi He would dive from the center and swim to the dam

When the time had come and he took the plunge Everybody screamed, "My God! What has he donesd?" And thoough he tried to swim, the current carried him Closer and closer to the brink of the falls

The people lined the banks of the Mississipi
To watch Father Hennepin go over the edge
The people there that day, they all swear they say
Father Hennepin was laughing as he fell to his death
