

Leading Myself On

Brighten

Oh God, I think I love her
Blonde hair getting blonder
She's lookin' fine, she looks good every day
In two days, it'll be her birthday
Manicure, pedicure on Thursday
She'll be lookin' perfect, but some things never change

I'm a goner like oh my God, my God
My God, I need this girl
Oh my God, I need her

She's got a man already and I know
I should understand already but I don't
Think I can know I'm ready but I know that it's wrong
She can still see hope in the distance
Even though we still don't know what this is
And I know it's none of my business
But I tag along
Just leading myself on
Just leading myself on

She can't tell me that it's over (It ain't over)
I can't tell her that it's over (It ain't over)
But I'm hoping I can hold her in the future
And no one said it'd be easy
It ain't easy, believe me
Oh, it's either she needs me or I'll lose her

I'm a goner like oh my God, my God
My God, I need this girl
Oh my God, I need her

She's got a man already and I know
I should understand already but I don't
Think I can know I'm ready but I know that it's wrong
She can still see hope in the distance
Even though we still don't know what this is
And I know it's none of my business
But I tag along
Just leading myself on
Just leading myself on

She's got a man already and I know
I should understand already but I don't
Think I can know I'm ready but I know that it's wrong
(I know it's wrong but I love her)
She can still see hope in the distance
Even though we still don't know what this is
And I know it's none of my business
But I tag along
Just leading myself on
(I know it's wrong but I love her)
Just leading myself on