

My Love Will Follow You

Buddy Miller

Take your suitcase, take your heart
Take a train into the dark
My love will follow you
My love will follow you

You can try to lose yourself downtown
You can burn all your bridges down
My love will follow you
My love will follow you

My love will follow you
Down every highway of your soul
You can leave it all behind
My love will be your shadow
Everywhere you go

So close the door, turn the key
Leave me here like a memory
My love will follow you
My love will follow you

Even on a road that takes you down
Where the chords of human kindness come unwound
My love will follow you
My love will follow you

My love will follow you
Down every highway of your soul
You can leave it all behind
My love will be your shadow
Everywhere you go

If you should ever go so far, that you cannot get back
Girl, you may not remember
But, my heart will not lose track

So, go ahead and take that train
In my heart, you will remain
My love will follow you
My love will follow you
My love will follow you
