A Man

Buffy Sainte-Marie

Sweet and strong the way he loves me Gentle, Gentle in my heart
I know he can feel
I know that he's real
I know he's a man

Just because he makes me want him Like I never have before I'm betting on him I'm watching him win All the woman I am

The way he is could heal my every day
Give me with his eyes what diamonds only try to say
And I need his love to help me carry on
To do my little miracles—
Well, love's the fuel I'm flying on

And of all the ways to love a man I believe the best is this To feel him beside you To hold him inside you And to know he's a man
