

This Fantasy

BulletProof Messenger

Theirs no room in this place to breathe
And to me its a little harder than it used to be.
You and I well we got to see thats its time for us both to make believe
And this comes natural Our hands our way to full With lies we have convinced our self
And both true

But I still remember the time that you took away.
When its time you will finally see that we're the heaven inside
this fantasy
And I still remember the time you stood in my way
When its time you will finally see that we're the heaven inside
this fantasy

Its time we got over this Before our fists start saying what our mouths commit With a little bit of courtesy When can finally learn when not to speak
So you do not agree I have no sympathy So face yourself and hold your tongue hold your tongue.

But I still remember the time that you took away
When its time you will finally see that we're the heaven inside
this fantasy
And I still remember just how you stood in my way
When its time you will finally see that we're the heaven inside
this fantasy

Cause theirs a fire that burns deep inside me its about to explode with all the rage I need you are not the Antichrist I need.
you will never get the rest of me the rest of me when its time you will finally see that we are the heaven insid
