

Four Years

Buried In Verona

We don't expect the world
to pay any favours
we knew this life held sacrifice
no longer leading the life we once had
and now we live with no regrets,
no regrets!

Love that we won't give up on old ties made strong from the years that passed by.
Our dream's seem so vivid
now reaching out for a taste of a new beginning.

Sometimes i'm just holding on to all the good times
that we've spent,
i never quite knew what they meant.
Holding on.
I hold my heart to the sun,
this dream is what i've become ever closer.
Please don't wake me up!

Tides that were set
to sail on, mistakes long gone in a life that was mine,
this game plays a heavy hand.
Butt no weight's gonna stop all of us from standing.

Sometimes i'm just holding on to all the good times
that we've spent,
i never quite knew what they meant.
Holding on.
I hold my heart to the sun,
this dream is what i've become ever closer.
Please don't wake me up!

Stepping out to the cold
walking through though uneasy,
left the shelter we all knew
followed our hearts to glory.

What becomes of all of us?
And it's all on the line,
it's all on the line.
We lost all of our regrets,
and these stars stuck in our eyes,
these stars stuck in our eyes.
We'll break you're arms if you try to push us!
You bite you're tongue,
slash your eyes and hold on!