

Your Years

Buried In Verona

We don't expect the world to pay any favours we knew this life held Sacrifice; no longer leading the life we once had and now we li ve with no Regrets, no regrets!
Love that we won't give up on old ties made strong: from the ye ars that Passed by. Our dream's seem so vivid now reaching out for a tas te of a new Beginning. Sometimes I'm just holding on to all the good times that we've Spent, I never quite knew what they meant. Holding on. I hold m y heart to
The sun, this dream is what I've become ever closer. Please don
't wake me
Up! Tides that were set to sail on, mistakes long gone in a lif e that was Mine, this game plays a heavy hand. Butt no weight's gonna stop all of us
From standing. Sometimes I'm just holding on to all the good ti mes that We've spent, I never quite knew what they meant. Holding on. I hold my Heart to the sun, this dream is what I've become ever closer. P lease don't Wake me up! Stepping out to the cold walking through though une asy, left
The shelter we all knew followed our hearts to glory. What beco mes of all Of us? And it's all on the line, it's all on the line. We lost all of our Regrets, and these stars stuck in our eyes, these stars stuck i n our eyes.
We'll break you're arms if you try to push us! You bite you're tongue,
Slash your eyes and hold on!
