The Foe Sublime

Feigned The image of a world unfolds Deluded, but divine It sees us mocking gifted grace A stolen self Will not succumb

See your face in the mirror It's your image on a face of another See your principles Constantly wither What is this will but a riddle?

In splendor
We were born again
Renewed and whole,
A chance reborn
Sustenance
We've found
Yet we tear it from our minds

So find a way through these foes With your tears Scattered around the wound It scares us not, This path's design Run these demons gone amok

Astray