

Strangled Idols

Cadaveria

I contemplate only shreds of truth
Nocturnal gusts make whirlpool
Strangled idols, seduced souls, opaque state of joy

Time after time all idols have been strangled
Resignation to uncertainty, resignation to the essential asymmetry of the world
Day after day all idols have been strangled
In this mute instant of silence all reality seems to have its own reason to exist

I'm two voices, duality, I'm a witch that must not count to ten

Time after time all idols have been strangled
Resignation to uncertainty, resignation to the essential asymmetry of the world
Day after day all idols have been strangled
In this mute instant of silence all reality seems to have its own reason to exist

Life! Death! Time! Pain! Joy! Silence!

An instance of silence between two noises of life
Cut throat of not lived time
Shredded leaves of my wretched life
Death glance, bringer of life
Shelled by the system, blinded by faith
Guided by instinct, armoured by pain

Time after time all idols have been strangled
Resignation to uncertainty, resignation to this shutter world
Time after time all idols have been strangled
Resignation to uncertainty, resignation to this shutter world
Day after day all the idols have been strangled
In this pure instant of silence, infected by seduced souls