Mustache Man (Wasted)

With the mustache man on the carpet of his van You can feel your fatty tissues giving way to sweaty hands And the woofers keep distorting and the tweeters kiss the girls

His horn-rimmed glasses lights a square beneath his curls

I have wasted so much time I have wasted so much time

He is like a politician who is practicing a speech He is racing, he is pacing, he is sleeping on his beat As the sky begins to darken and the waves begin to roll You can feel the oceans rising as you're losing all control

And meanwhile back at the Candlerock Lounge It is past 11:30 and your friends are getting down They're applying purple eyeshadow, drinking warm beer They're wondering where you went to when you told them you'd be here

I have wasted so much time I have wasted so much time

I have wasted so much time I have wasted so much time
