

Nights we hide between the walls and voices leading on the ground

Arms reaching out, hoping for the chance to start Hearts holding out waiting for the bells to Bring my words to all of you and if they ever hear my voice

Hold me in your thoughts laid out twisted in defense, Hoping for the chance to start

Hearts holding out waiting for the bells to Send my love to all my friends and if I never make it back

To hold you in my arms again not letting go this time