

Pathos

Callisto

inclined - and there is light to see for those unwilling darkness will suffice those who choose to believe - blessed be those who stand aside - reason satisfies virtue and vice black and white colours subside in the pale and night the path set out before me may no one hold in contempt for it