

Generation Next

Capdown

Music ain't the only means of venting our frustrations
But we can use it to provoke some emotion
Apathy is taking hold of our jilted generation
It's time for us to shake things up
It's time for us to take control
These are different days to the one that's We've failed to look after
And now this becomes our future not our destiny
Already things we've left to late
Things our kids will never see

This is the new generation that you've all been taking of Let's take this new direction that we've all been fighting for

Music ain't the only means of massing communication
But we can use it to provoke some emotions
Apathy is taking hold of our jilted generation
It's time for us to shake things up
It's time for us to take control

This is the new generation that you've all been taking of
Let's take this new direction that we've all been fighting for
