

Break My Little Heart in Two

Carlene Carter

Been around enough to know
When a man is lying its bound to show
Its written on his face
The letters in the capital case

Guilty of these crimes he cause
Treat cheaters like they fired the law
But he proclaims undying love
I wonder who hes speaking of Cause all he ever seems to do is break my little heart in two

Its killing me to find a man out there,
You'd think I'd find me one who cared
Show me some security and endues some sweet serenity

I cant keep up with who's is what
Boy this affair ain't fair enough
Men like him they love the chase
Girls give him time he'll throw the race
All he ever seems to do is break my little heart in two

I cant pretend I understand what makes a woman want a man
But all he ever seems to do is break her little heart in two

Run out the door jump in the car
But I never seem to get real far
Around the corner hit the gas
Drive fast enough and ill burn the past

Play the radio real loud,
Days like this make mommas proud
Feeling free feels good to me
And I'm right back where I used to be

All he's ever going to do oh I know its sad but true
All he's ever going to do is break her little heart in two Break her little heart in two
