The First Day in August

On the first day in August I wanna wake up by your side After sleeping with you On the last night in July

In the morning We'll catch the sun rising And we'll chase it from the mountains To the bottom of the sea

When the day is over And the night air comes to chill us You'll build a fire And we'll watch the flames dancing

You'll fall asleep With your arm around my shoulder And nothing will come between us On the first night in August

The first day in August