

Every Little Thing You Do

Cast

If you wanna find out where it is you're going
Better turn the TV off
Well maybe I'll surrender and live this life forever
Never make it past the roadblocks

It seems the time time has forgot
Promises made, broken and lost
The world seems to change in so many ways
I still remember your name

Every little thing you say, every little thing you do
Will always be a part of me, always be a part of you
And the smile upon her face like the light upon the day
Will always be a part of me, always be a part of you

How can I expect you to reveal the real you
Live the life the way we do
Through the shattered mirrors trying to remember
All the broken pieces lost

It seems the time time has forgot
Promises made, broken and lost
The world seems to change in so many ways
I can remember your name

Every little thing you say, every little thing you do
Will always be a part of me, always be a part of you
And the smile upon her face like the light upon the day
Will always be a part of me, always be a part of you

And the light in your eyes shines brighter each day
When the distance between us ain't too far away
Don't take my love away, hey hey
Don't take my love away, yeah
Although it's a long way get back again

Every little thing you say, every little thing you do
Will always be a part of me, always be a part of you
And the smile upon her face like the light upon the day
Will always be a part of me, always be the light in your eyes
The light in each day
And the distance between us ain't too far away
Always be a part of me
