I go outside in the missing hour The silence and every star is for me The closer than you are And I'm driving the further lights to start First to come and last to part Where is she the missing hour And I'm on this empty road It's better to be alone Come and come and come You will never find a missing hour Go go go You'll never find a missing hour It's better to be alone I go outside in the missing hour The silence and every star is for me And closer than you are