Indigo Blind

Catatonia

Back again, where did you stray? No hands salute the change If you glance then look the other way Not even success would sway your reasons He was a favourite friend of mine He wasn't addicted or anything He'd write some strange things as he'd climb Indigo blind Here at last we're on your side Press your hair against the window Past the bridge you lay down and died And it made the great feel better He was a favourite friend of mine He wasn't addicted or anything He'd write some strange things as he'd climb Indigo blind He was a favourite friend of mine He wasn't addicted or anything He'd write some strange things as he'd climb Indigo blind Indigo blind Indigo blind Indigo blind