

Upon Azrael's Wings

Cathedral

Riding on the flames of death Into this last night fear relents As we race through skies upon Azrael's wings He has com to set us free from this earthbound misery Father of macabre you possess the key To heavens black galactic morgue Chosen few seek your reward In solitude, perpetual silence Cosmic womb, eteral solace Embracing cosmic mysteries To worlds below he's sent a wreath Elated black angel; our requiem he sings As tears of Nebula fill black holes Drowning galaxies of lost souls We continue our ascent to heavens low No turning back from galactic morgue Chosen few find your reward In solitude, perpetual silence Cosmic womb, eternal solace Colossal grave of shadows, extinction of mankind Eternal morgue or sorrows, no beauty
left behind Void of shadows, man's colossal grave Ball of ash to zero fades Nothing left to mourn, all has died, ever born Barren voyage static drone Stark oblivion reigns so cold Dropped out of existence, we've found our hmo In heaven's black galactic morgue Chosen few have found our reward In solitude, perpetual silence Cosmic womb, eternal solace