

Kill Leeroy

Catherine

You saw me so much better than I did
You knew everything about me
I wanted to trust in you
But I somehow never could
I have seen it in your eyes
You saw clearly into my heart
But as I walk away
I can see the flame licked wreckage
And the smoldering ash
I can remember your eyes mirroring my soul
With these embers all around me
I realize how numb ive become
Their warmth reminds me
How much I miss your touch
And I refuse to remain this way
And i refuse to forget your face
