

Far Beyond the High Street

Charlene Soraia

I live in a house
It's split into four separate homes
Neighbours always argue
I often call for the police to come
I wish they'd leave each other alone

I never venture far beyond the high street
I never venture far beyond the high street

I live in a house
It homes seven separate lives
I wonder if the neighbours
Ever press their ears to the walls to hear me cry

We couldn't care less
We couldn't care more
Fuck the neighbours
Fuck them all

I never venture far beyond the high street
I never venture far beyond the high street

Unless I venture to the west world
Journeys bring me back
To the only joy I had
As a teenage girl

I never venture far beyond the high street

I live in a house
Its split into four separate homes